VOLCANIC ACTIVITY

Earthquake Shock Was Felt at Hilo.

"The volcano broke out again last night, at the same time a heavy earthquake shock was test at Hilo. A lake of red hot lava is visible at the bottom of the crater," says Mr. Berg, agent for the Wilder's Steamship Company at Hilo. In a letter to President C. L. Hilo, in a letter to President C. L. Wight of that company. The letter is dated August 26th and was received yesterday by the steamer Helene which arrived from Hawali ports.

The officers of the steamer Helene say that the outbreak of Kilauea was accompanied by an earthquake. While the vessel was lying at Papaaloa additional evidence of renewed activity was secured. In the afternoon, reports Matin, the Paris correspondent of the Captain Nicholson of the Helene. ECCENTRICITY OF KING ALFONSO

NEW YORK, August 21.—A cable to the Journal from Madrid says; All Spain is aghast today over the latest reports of the extraordinary eccentricity of King Alfonso. Juring his recent provincial tour the King repeatedly gave evidence of a lack of mental balance. At Oviedo, at a great reception, the King complained of being bored, and asked why he could "Oh, must they?" replied his ma-

A moment later Alfonso doubled his fists, and, placing them to his mouth in imitation of a bugle, sounded taps. Every-body stood aghast and glanced toward King, who again sounded

At Santander, when the King was acclaimed with shouts of "Long Live the King!" Alfonso shouted to the Duke of Veragua, who was near by: "Say, Duke, you adm't get anything this time, did you? No long life for you."

He then laughed boisterously at Veragua's confusion.

The Bishop affirmed that he did.
"Well, I don't," replied Alfonso. "We have seen enough. I'm going to dinner." With this remark he marched off tow-ard the dining hall. NEW YORK, August 22.-A cable to

He has disregarded all proposals of his councilors that he marry a European Princess, and has announced his intention of marrying the daughter of some South American capitalist to mend the shattered state finances, reconcile the republican element

MONITOR FOR HARBOR WORK

The United States Navy Department is preparing a new scheme for defense of the smaller American ports and isiands which have no shore batteries. Hawaii will probably be included in this scheme, as there are no shore batteries here which can be used to defend the islands from the possible attacks of a foreign fleet, and it is not always possible to have a gunboat or cruiser in these waters. For island defense small monitors have been planned, and one of these for use on the Atlantic coast has already been launched. This is the Arkansas, and she is officially termed a harbor defense monitor. She is an nteresting vessel.

The Arkansas has a beam of 50 feet, is 252 feet long and upon a water displacement of 3235 tons will draw only 12½ feet of water. Her bow is fitted with an enormous ram, and this would be certain doom for a large battleship should the smaller craft be able to get a run at her.

Lying low upon the water, with all of her exposed hull stoutly covered with armor ranging from five to eleven inches thick, with her two big guns well housed in a turret of hardened steel deven inches thick, and with the bases of her smokestack and ventilators guarded by folds of the same tough metal, she offers but a limited target to an enemy's fire. The housing amidships of no military importance, could be riddled from end to end and turned into a tangled bunch of plates and an-gles, but so long as the turret remained intact the ship would be practically as formidable as ever.

The main battery consists of two 12-

PERILS OF THE PARISIAN STREETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.-Quoting the Francais the Evening edition of the

"Victor Evandale, an American, about forty years of age, declared at a cafe United States and never carried a wea pon and was never afraid. Several Frenchmen who were present told him

"They asserted that he could not go from Grenelle to Montrouge, for example, after 10 o'clock at night without being killed, unless he wore laborer's clothes.

"Evandale left the cafe after a time without reverting to the conversation about dangerous localities.

"Next morning his companions of the night before were horrified to read of the discovery of Evandale's body in the glacis of the fortifications near the Maison Blanche. It is supposed he must have actually attempted to walk from Grenelle to Montrouge immediately after leaving his friends.

"Evidently he was attacked from behind. Tight around his neck was found a thin leather thong which had been used to strangle him. His pockets were rifled, his shoes and coat removed." Inquiry by the World correspondent tends to show that Evandale was an Englishman instead of an American, but had lived in Texas.

JAPS NOT AFTER WAKE ISLAND

WASHINGTON, August 19.—The Jap-anese Minister, Mr. Takahira, said today when asked as to the attitude of the Jap anese Government in regard to the Mid-way islands and Wake island, of which so much has been written lately, that the Japanese had no intention to claim sov-ereignty over the islands, and that when the United States Government made cer tain representation in relation to the Mid-way islands in January, 1991, the Japanese Government at once declared to the same effect. Mr. Takahira further said that if the United States Government should send a war vessel to the islands, as reported in the newspapers. Japan would expect only that due protection should be given to Japanese subjects who may be found there as ong as they are engaged in peaceful occupations. Aside from the foregoing statement by the Japanese Minister, it can be added from authoritative Government sources that the most satis factory feeling exists between the Ameri ans and Japanese officials as to the good faith of each and the harmonious adjust-ment of the question relating to Marcus Island.
